

RISE ABOVE STRATEGIES

Rise Above Strategies specializes in local, statewide, and national communications and operations strategy and program development. We serve clients in a wide range of industries, from local community organizations to national presidential campaigns. No projects are too big or too small.

The focuses of our work include:

- Non-profit advocacy, most recently serving a local organization in need of a strategic plan to build a housing coalition
- Social justice campaigns, where projects have involved building infrastructure and developing a team plan to stand up an advocacy campaign around the release of a feature film
- Crisis communications inclusive of strategic communications planning and management, most recently for a disaster relief organization
- Strategic planning and management within national political organizations, where we have done everything from reorganize teams to build and implement programs with DEI facilitation
- Presidential campaigns, where our scope of work has included staffing, infrastructure building, and field campaign program development

We offer solutions for our clients' issues with people, problems, and programs. Our approach to the work is first assessing, determining, and aligning on how we are defining your needs and what we are defining as the desired outcome short term and long term.

We are here to upgrade work culture, for good, now. Picture it with us: a better bottom line, problems solved, for good, programs firing on all cylinders, and a morale boost for the ages.
